I started my business planning small showers and weddings. My goal was to prove it's possible to take 'entertaining' to new heights. I wanted to demonstrate my creativity by creating events that reflect each client's unique sense of style or sophistication. I found too many services out there are wholesale or cookie cutters of one another. My goal is to make each client feel that every dollar spent is worthwhile because every detail is looked after. They can enjoy their celebration while my team plans, designs and orchestrates a memorable event.

SAVVY offers a one-stop shop for anyone planning a special life celebration, whether it be a wedding, life milestone or corporate party. Our team is made up of trained event specialists and coordinators to provide various levels of service. Our services include: event planning, event coordination, production design and fabulous linen rentals.

My professional goal is to continue growing the business. Our linen rental and coordination side continues to evolve, along with our unique client list. This area of the business allows us to provide elegant table linens and chair coverings that surpass client expectations. On the coordination side, we demonstrate the importance each little detail plays in executing an enjoyable event.

Personalized, customer-centered service makes SAVVY stand above the rest. Our philosophy is that every celebration should be an extraordinary event experience for both host and guests. As such, our professional team offers one on one ongoing consults to ensure we capture the essence of each client and his or her unique taste, budget and expectation. Overall, our goal is to exceed customer expectations, one event at a time.
